Remedial Center Discussed

"The purpose of the South-west Arkansas Remedial Research Center is to discover and diagnose any difficulty in learning by the child," Joe Walthal, Director of the Center told the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting in the Town and Country last Friday. The Center is located in Magnolia with satellite operations in a five-county area, and Hope is the site for the program in Hempstead County.

Mr. Walthal and Rudolph Burroughs, also of the Center in Magnolia, were both club guests. "We are trying to reach each child with remedial action," the speaker said. He outlined prospective plans for the future including the use of a mobile unit for tests over the area.

Rotarian Bill Wray installed three new club members, Floyd Leverett, Finis Odom, and Al Zimmerebner. Richard Keyton was a guest, and Ben Harding of Prescott was a visiting Rotarian. President Paul Kilpsch presided.

The first voice radio signals across the Atlantic Ocean were sent from the Eiffel Tower to Arlington, Va.

Powell's Secretary Subpoenaed

By THOMAS M. STEWART
WASHINGTON (AP) — The special House committee investigating Adam Clayton Powell has tracked down his secretary in the Bahamas and subpoenaed her to testify Tuesday.

William A. Geoghegan, the committee's counsel, said it was his understanding the subpoena is valid although the islands are British territory.

"I haven't researched this," Geoghegan said Sunday night when he reported that Corinne Huff, the secretary, had been located, "but I am advised that we can serve an American citizen in the Bahamas."

The subpoena was delivered by a process server hired by the State Department, he said.

Geoghegan said he didn't know what progress had been made in serving another witness who the committee wants to question Tuesday, Yvette Flores Powell, the Harlem Democrat's estranged wife. The committee is investigating Powell's qualifications to be seated in the House.

Asked whether the subpoenas were any guarantee the two women would appear, Geoghegan said: "I really couldn't say."

When Mrs. Powell was subpoenaed in December by another committee she failed to appear. She said afterward she had been given insufficient time to arrange the trip from her home in Puerto Rico.

According to records of the House Education and Labor Committee, Miss Huff, 25, was Powell's traveling companion a number of times on trips charged to the committee.

At the time Powell was chairman of the committee. He was removed from the post last month by House Democrats.

A member of the investigating committee said today there could be a crisis in relations between the judicial and legislative branches of government if

Manchester Tells About Dispute

By REILMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Manchester says differences of opinion between Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy may account in part for the dispute over his book, "The Death of a President."

"I think she was apparently blazing like a bonfire at Bob," the writer said, referring to an incident before the controversy erupted into public.

Manchester added Sunday that Kennedy "has a strong and admirable sense of family loyalty. When he learned that Mrs. Kennedy was distressed, then he tried to find another solution."

The author discussed his book on the NBC radio and television program, "Meet the Press."

Afterward he told a reporter he is considering doing a book about his problems in writing the story of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. But he said he has been incapable of writing anything since July when he first heard reports of "discontent" among the Kennedys about his manuscript.

A spokesman for Sen. Kennedy said "no comment" when pressed for Kennedy's reaction to Manchester's statements.

The panel discussion also covered these points:

References to President Johnson:

Manchester said his book is not critical of the President. "I was and still am very sympathetic to President Johnson who, I think, behaved admirably," he said. "If anything he ought to have taken over more rapidly than he did."

An apparent contradiction of fact:

In his book, Manchester pictured Kennedy O'Donnell, appointments secretary to Kennedy, as pacing the corridor with his hands covering his ears during the swearing-in ceremony aboard the presidential airplane, Air Force One.

O'Donnell testified before the Warren Commission, however, that he was present at the rite. Last Friday, the Boston Globe published a photograph showing O'Donnell standing beside Mrs. Kennedy as Johnson took the oath.

Questioned as to this, Manchester replied, "My account of what took place was based on interviews with 33 people and when a clear majority said that something happened then I must conclude that it did happen."

A critical letter of last May 16:

Evans Thomas, editor-in-chief of Harper & Row, publishers of Manchester's book, wrote the letter and said the manuscript "is in part gratuitously and tastelessly insulting to Johnson."

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the traveler's tree?

A—A close relative of the banana tree in Malagasy, which collects good drinking water in a pocket at the base of each leaf stem. Travelers puncture the leaf stem close to the trunk and out spurts the water.

Q—Which is the smallest bird in the world?

A—The bee hummingbird of Cuba, measuring 2¼ inches in length.

lasted 37 days.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said since then that each pause was initiated because some government in touch with the Communist regime in Hanoi predicted peace talks might be started if the aerial bombing ended.

In recent months North Vietnam has been saying that peace talks "could" result if the United States ended the bombing unconditionally. This Johnson has declared he will not do in the absence of a matching military reduction by the Communists.

Johnson summed up his position in a letter last week to Pope Paul VI: "I know you would not expect us to reduce military action unless the other side is willing to do likewise."

entering law practice and eventually politics.

He and his wife, the former Juanita Yates of Arkadelphia, have one son, 4-year-old Bryan, a talkative lad who proudly told a caller his grandmother was visiting.

Thomasson calmly declined to comment on Walther's remarks Saturday in calling him a "hatchetman" and a "turn-coat."

"I have a terrible temper," he confessed, "so I'd rather just say no comment."

Thomasson was ready to take a look at utility rates had he received the appointment.

"I wanted to look into the situation and see if I was right," he said.

MOVE UP TO ELECTRIC WATER HEATING!

Why are so many moderns — in modern homes — moving UP to flameless water heating? Three big reasons: the satisfaction in knowing there's always plenty of hot water, for every need; the fact that this heater can be put anywhere — under the sink, tucked into a closet, even under the house, for there's no flue needed; and the knowledge that electric water heating really is a clean break with the past — and a move UP to more modern living. If your old water heater is living on borrowed time, or if you're planning a new home, buy a 40 gallon quick recovery electric heater this month, install it in a home served directly by AP&L, and you'll get our $25 installation allowance. Easy Reddy Plan way to buy it is yours, too — just see your plumber or appliance dealer.

NEW YORK (AP) — The specialty of "Candid Camera" through all its seasons on CBS has been playing practical jokes on unsuspecting citizens and then showing their embarrassed surprise when informed that they have been filmed in the act of making idiots of themselves.

But that familiar format was replaced Sunday night by what producer Allan Funt apparently believes is a great, sober social document. It featured assorted boys and girls talking about their parents — often in uncompromising terms.

The basic question, asked youngsters from ages five to 16, was, "Do you think your father is smarter than you are?"

Surprisingly, a lot of them did. One teen-age girl, for instance, gave her father the ultimate in approbation — "He's a sharp guy, cool, a really good guy." A number of them, though, thought their fathers just did not understand them.

Perhaps the most interesting segment involved a boy in his teens who declared that his father was "very, very smart," but in a flood of words somewhere buried a line to the effect that, while he loved his father, he "hated him," too.

Funt meticulously was giving parents equal time to answer. The boy's father was shocked that his son would say such a thing "to a complete stranger." He reported that when he spoke to his son about the comment, the boy had no recollection of saying it.

"Candid Camera," with its interminable bag of tricks, gets to be a bit of a bore after a certain amount of exposure to its rather cute techniques. But, practical jokes and all, the old format is better than the serious stuff.

Danny Thomas, "Guys and Geishas" special on NBC Friday night included some of the lovely scenery of Japan, where it was shot, but the rest of the hour bore all the familiar stamps of the made-in-Hollywood product, including the jokes.

Recommended tonight: "Pinochio," CBS, 7:30-8:30 EST, adaptation of the story into a musical designed for young viewers; "Highlights of the Ice Capades of 1967," NBC, 8-9, taped skating acts, with Jimmy Durante as host.

HUSBAND FIGHTS BACK

Dear Helen: Females have had their say long enough. Now it's time for a man to talk back.

A WIFE IS A WOMAN WHO —

Reads street maps upside down and gets you hopelessly lost; then remarks, "A WOMAN would stop at a service station and ask directions."

Will drive ten miles to save ten cents on tow cans of beans and stretches a tea bag to the third cuppa hot water — but spends 75 grogskins on a new dress at the drop of a credit card.

Is always on a strict diet until you take her out for dinner. Puts YOU on a strict diet, then gets an urge to make cream puffs.

Thinks a clock or watch is just an ornament unless YOU are late. Figures all cars will go ten minutes longer after the gas gauge reads "Empty," and if you drive faster, you can beat the odds.

Can't replace a blown-out fuse or start the power lawn mower (if a man is there to do it for her) but can repair a washing machine with a hairpin, and a toaster with a well-placed thump.

Complains that you snore when all you're doing is humming her to sleep.

Can't figure out the plot of any TV show more involved than the "Pruitts of Southampton" yet spurns the direct approach in favor of involved, devious schemes to make a husband say "Yes."

Goes barefoot nine-tenths of the time, but is always in need of new shoes.

Tears into the kids with strong words, yet says, "But dear, they're ONLY children," when you try it.

Smears her face with cold cream so that a goodnight kiss is like stepping on a banana peel.

Cynical Group Influenced Only by Facts

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, said today "a new sophisticated society" which he described as cynical and critical, can be influenced only by a flow of factual news, not opinion.

"This society doubts the credibility of almost everything and is immune to humbuggability," Gallagher said. "Facts presented logically have a ring of authenticity that over a period of time convince the vast majority of the reading and listening public regardless of their cynicism."

Gallagher's address was prepared for a convocation at the University of Kansas where he received the 1967 William Allen White Foundation Award for Journalistic Merit.

The war in Vietnam, Gallagher said, "has probably been the greatest contributor to the cynicism in this country." He cited numerous official statements which he said had been "proven wrong by events."

"In this continuing furor over the credibility gap, the reader associates the untrue statement of a public figure with the paper that publishes it," he said.

Today's audience for the journalist, Gallagher said, is young, with 51 per cent of the population under 29 years old and more than 10 million college graduates.

"It is an impatient audience — too impatient to waste time in trivia," he said. "It is eager for information but suspicious that it is being taken in by one device or another. It swallows up vast amounts of information and entertainment, but it hungers for the significant. It hungers for perspective. It hungers for understanding."

Nevada was the first state to permit its voters to elect members to the U.S. Senate.

Leading SMU Faces a Tough Row

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last challengers for Southern Methodist's Southwest Conference basketball lead face a tough row this week, and the Methodists could climb into a commanding position by winning a couple of games.

Texas and Texas Christian are tied for second place, two games back of once-beaten SMU.

Texas plays a fast improving Rice at Houston Tuesday and then takes on dangerous Baylor at Austin Saturday.

Texas Christian faces Baylor at Waco — an unenviable task for the team that was leading the league a couple of weeks ago — and then plays Southern Methodist at Fort Worth Saturday afternoon.

The SMU-TCU game once looked like it might be most decisive, but that was before Southern Methodist beat the Horned Frogs 89-88 and threw them into a slump that begins to appear disastrous.

The Frogs can be depended on, however, to give arch rival Southern Methodist an interesting afternoon. At least they are playing at home and that could help. TCU lost the first time to SMU at Dallas.

Texas seems to be in better position than Texas Christian. In the first place, the Longhorns are the only team able to beat the Methodists and can stay in there fairly tight unless they lose a game or two before clashing with SMU again. TCU is willing to concede that Texas is in better position to contend for the title.

Southern Methodist trampled Baylor 94-88 in its only game last week and Texas was the only other team to do more than break even. The Longhorns cracked Rice 81-73 and then whipped Arkansas 67-61.

Southern Methodist starts off the week's work Tuesday night when it is host to Texas Tech. There is little reason to believe the Methodists will lose to the Red Raiders, who have won only two games, but one of those was quite surprising—a 77-72 decision over Texas Christian last week.

Baylor scoring twins Jimmy Turner and Darrell Hardy lead the league. Turner has 380 points, Hardy 371. Bill Doty of Rice is third with 322.

Turner Is Fastest on Speedway

By F. T. MACFEELY

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The fastest man on Daytona International Speedway is Curtis Turner, who was racing before many of his competitors got out of diapers.

The 42-year-old Turner showed the youngsters his exhaust Sunday when he took a nonfactory Chevrole twice around the high banked 2.5-mile trioval at an average of 180.831 miles an hour.

He wiped out the 178.660 m.p.h. Speedway record Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., set last July, and walked off with $5,000 first money and the pole position for the $200,000 Daytona 500 Feb. 26.

Only a few days earlier, when mechanic Smokey Yunick was fretting about getting competitive speed out of the black and gold No. 13, Turner said he "will run that car if I have to run it barefoot. There's $5,000 at stake. I can remember when we ran the feature and the winner passed the hat to collect $8 or $10."

Always colorful and always able to get the best out of his machinery, Turner, who lives at Charlotte, N.C., decided his second speed was "pretty good" when the high banked asphalt track was a little slow from morning rain.

Richard Petty of Hensleyman, S.C., collected second place money of $1,000 and the other from the place for the Daytona 500. He averaged 179.066 m.p.h. in a 1965 Plymouth.

That and the third best speed of 178.635 by David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., in a Dodge Charger also broke the old record.

A 1967 Ford driven by Cale Yarborough of Charlotte equaled the old mark.

Some Top Rated Teams Defeated

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer Everybody is trying so hard to be only No. 2 in college basketball, the Top Ten is getting more and more Nos. 3, 4, 5, etc.

The latest likely to join those who tried and failed is North Carolina, which jeopardized its No. 2 ranking by losing to unranked Georgia Tech 82-80 Saturday.

Two other former No. 2s, Houston and Texas Western, also slipped as half of the Top Ten teams in the country took a turn for the worse.

Houston, No. 5, fell before off-beaten Notre Dame 87-78 and Texas Western, No. 8, stumbled at Seattle 69-56, while ninth-ranked Providence lost to Niagara 77-76 and No. 10 Boston College was surprised by Fordham 85-81.

"It gets to you mentally," said Coach Bill van Breda Kolff, whose fourth-ranked Princeton Tigers barely avoided upset by nipping Brown 57-54. "It's not a matter of wanting to win; rather, you get the feeling you have to win and something happens to you."

But nothing ever seems to happen to No. 1, UCLA. The Bruins continued their way alone, pushing aside Oregon State 76-44 Friday and then Oregon 100-66 Saturday for a 19-0 record in their march toward the elusive unbeaten season.

The rest of the ranking teams survived. Third-ranked Louisville, 20-2 another former No. 2 and a likely choice to get another try at holding the spot, downed Wichita 90-68. Western Kentucky, No. 6, ran its mark to 18-1 by tripping Eastern Tennessee 65-56.

Kansas, No. 7, outlasted Kansas State 60-55. Two other highly-rated teams also had trouble as St. Louis hindered Tulsa's hopes of catching Louisville in the Missouri Valley Conference by beating the Hurricane 76-62, while Lehigh stunned Rutgers 45-43.

North Carolina, 16-2, had a seven-game winning streak shattered after overcoming a 72-58 deficit at Atlanta. Bob Brizendine's layup with six seconds left did the damage as the Engineers, 14-7, won for the ninth time in 10 outings.

Sophomore Ron Arzen cut up Houston with 37 points at South Bend, Ind., while Seattle worked behind Tom Workman and Steve Looney, who each scored 17 points. Seattle, the only team to beat the defending NCAA champion Texas Western last season, built a 23-9 lead and protected it.

Providence lost its chance when Jim Walker, who scored 28 points, stumbled going in for a layup in the last five seconds at Niagara and missed a winning basket.

Dennis Witkowski scored 24 points at Boston, sinking Boston College's seven-game victory string. Lew Alcindor hit only 16 points, but Lucius Allen added 22 for UCLA, which hosts Oregon and Oregon State next weekend.

Chris Thomforde and Joe Heiser split four free throws in the last minute to save Princeton at Providence, R.I., while host Western Kentucky overcame a halftime deficit for its victory.

McCallister in Rally at Maracaibo

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Bob McCallister, Corona, Calif., had to make two rallies to win the Maracaibo Open Golf Tournament, first stop on the Caribbean tour.

McCallister had come from one stroke off the pace in Sunday's final round, and had a two-stroke leading going into the final hole. But Wes Ellis, West Caldwell, N.J., fired an eagle on the last regulation hole and tied McCallister for the top spot, each with 276. McCallister, however, clinched the $3,000 first prize with a birdie on the first hole of a sudden death playoff. McCallister had a three-under-par 69 on the final round, Ellis a 70.

FROM COURT TO TEE NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Stallworth is playing basketball with the New York Knicks and when he ends his career he hopes to become a golf pro. He shoots in the low 70s. Bill Bridges of the St. Louis Hawks is a handicap golfer and his coach, Richie Guerin, shoots in the low 80s. Rookie Jack Martin of the Baltimore Bullets is a southpaw golfer, also in the 80s.

Hope Slips by Magnolia Cage Team

By RALPH ROUNTON

Setting their sights on a state tournament berth, the Hope Bobcats slipped by the Magnolia Panthers, 50-44, Saturday night at Magnolia.

For the Bobcats it was the first victory on the road of the conference season. The Cats earlier had dropped decisions at Smackover, Crossett, Malvern, and Fairview.

The win also placed the Bobcats solidly in fourth place in the 4AA with a mark of 7-4. Magnolia, who have been tied with Hope for that fourth position with Hope, fell to 6-5.

Although the game started slowly, Bobcat Stan Parris hit a spree late in the opening period, and his seven straight points gave the Bobcats a 14-7 lead at the quarter.

Hope domination continued halfway through the second quarter as Magnolia couldn't find the range. They finally began to hit, however, and took their first lead over the Bobcats. 20-19, with 2:25 remaining in the half. Magnolia held on from there, and took a 24-21 margin into the second half of play.

It didn't take the Bobcats long, two minutes to be exact, to get the lead back in the third quarter. Led by Danny Griffiths' free throws, the Cats clung tightly to the lead and led with one period remaining by 36-31.

The finale was torn between Hope spurts and Magnolia's own attempts for a comeback. A very successful stall offense by the Bobcats over the last six minutes kept the ball away from Magnolia as the Bobcats took their second win in as many nights. The game also provided an interesting battle between two of the leading scorers in the district, Stan Parris of Hope and Steve Nipper of Magnolia. In the end Parris had 22 points to Nipper's 21.

Parris' 22 points led the Bobcats' attack. Danny Griffiths also had a good night, sacking 15 points. Larry East was next with 6. Luther Shaw had 5, and Stan Reyenga rounded out the scoring with 2. Nipper had 21 and Moore 10 to pace Magnolia.

Leading the rebound department was also Parris, who plucked off 11. East was close behind with 10, and Danny Griffiths pulled down 7. As a team the Bobcats came up with 30 rebounds.

Outmanned and much smaller in size, The Hope "B" Boys trailed all the way in falling to Magnolia by the score of 45-24. The Bobkittens faced exactly the same disadvantages in spite of a cold night in the shooting department and fell to the Magnolia Panther Cubs by 48-14.

In Nashville the Hope Lady Cats lost their first game in more than a month as the Nashville girls took revenge of an earlier defeat to Hope by clipping the Lady Cats 70-59. The Lady Cats take part in the District 7A-W tournament later on this week at Ashdown.

The Hope Bobkittens start play in their district tournament tonight in Camden, taking on the juniors of Arkadelphia in an opening round match. Game time is 5 p.m.

Matson to Build Up Strength

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson, the Texas A&M giant who threw the shot past 70 feet the second time in three years, said today he was going to work toward building up his strength.

"That is the only way I can improve and hope to better what I've already done," said the star of Saturday night's Dallas indoor track meet in which he pitched the 16-pound ball 70 feet 7 1/2 inches, a lie, his conqueror there last quarter-inch better than he got in 1965 when he set the world's record.

But he admitted that he was in the best shape he ever had been, was virtually free of injury, was his strongest and biggest and that he had done better than he ever had hoped for so early in the season.

His coach, Charley Thomas, asked that his throw Saturday night be considered for a world's record although it came indoors, where there are no official records, and was done with the outdoor shot.

However, officials of the Dallas meet said they would not submit the throw for any kind of record because it was indoors on dirt instead of the boards and also because the area where the throw was made wasn't level. The latter would obviate any idea of a world's record even if it had been made with the indoor shot.

Thomas said Matson would have an early opportunity to break the record outdoors because A&M and Baylor stage a dual meet Feb. 24 and "I think he'll get 72 feet this year and might do it in that first outdoor meet of the season."

Matson will appear in a triangular meet with Texas and Rice at Austin March 4 and then will enter his first big meet of the outdoor season—the Border Olympics at Laredo, Tex., March 10-11.

Elsewhere in indoor track Saturday, Ron Clarke ran away with the two-mile at the Los Angeles Times Games, winning in 8:41.8 and beating out Bill Ball, a lie, his conqueror there last year, by a heavy margin. Ball was second and Dave Ellis of Toronto third.

Veteran Jim Grelle won the mile in 4:06.4, with Richard Romo of the Southern California Striders second and John Cammen of the New York A.C. third. Bob Seagren, indoor pole

Advocator Choice at Hialeah

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Advocate, winner of 2-for-2 including the Seminole, today became a solid choice to win Saturday's $100,000 added Widener Handicap at Hialeah, with Exhibitionist gone from the scene.

Exhibitionist, a handsome 4-year-old roan owned by Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs and trained by her husband, Hirsch, fell and broke his shoulder midway through the stretch run in last Saturday's $33,350 Bountifulville Turf Handicap, won by Paul L. Benshoof's Tegullo.

Exhibitionist, who was destroyed, was in fourth place when jockey Braulio Baeza, leading rider at the meeting with 34 winners, apparently went for an opening that closed up when Point du Jour came over. Exhibitionist and Baeza, top money-winning rider last year, went down.

So did Larry Adams on Nelson Hunt's Big Red Rocket. George D. Widener's Ring Twice hurled Exhibitionist and threw his rider, John Ruane.

Baeza had a broken right collarbone, Adamas a broken left collarbone, and they'll be out a month to six weeks, Ruane was unhurt.

Point du Jour was disqualified and placed last for drifting out and causing the spill. Exhibitionist, a closeup second choice at $2.90 for $1 to Greentree Stable's Northern Deamon at $2.80, was regarded as a bright prospect for the Widener and second choice to Advocate in the early line. He had earned $151,529 as a 3-year-old and was insured for $200,000 Jacobs said.

Wheatly Stable's pair of Stupendous and Bold and Brave became second choice for the Widener while Jacobs plans to send out Understanding, third behind Advocate and Bokum and Scott's Quinta in the Seminole.

Quinta might go again, along with L.P. Guy's Munden Point, night be considered for a Juan D'Agostino's Come On It, world's record although it came outdoors, where there are no official records, and was done with the outdoor shot.

Other possible starters in the 1 1/4-mile feature include Pollux, Francis U., Handsome Boy, Potencial, Stanislas, Mr. Bruce II and Tenzing. Weights were due today.

vault record holder won the event at 17 1/2, but failed in three attempts at 17-3, which would have extended his record by an inch.

At the Michigan State Relays in East Lansing, Mich., Jim Ryun of Kansas, world record holder at the mile, won in 4:03.7, a meet and fieldhouse record.

Ryun finished half a lap ahead of the field as his chief potential challengers, Sam Bair of Kent State and Conrad Nightingale of Kansas State, were not in the race because their coach wanted them in relay events.

At the Western Athletic Conference championships in Albuquerque, N.M., George Young, the Australian distance runner who attends New Mexico, lapped the field and won the two-mile in 8:50.4.

Web Loudat, also of New Mexico, won the mile in 4:06.6. Rene Matison of New Mexico turned in a speedy 60-yard dash, winning in 6.0, and Ed Carruthers of Arizona won the high jump at 6-11 1/2.

Former catcher Andy Seminick will coach with the Philadelphia Phillies next season.

76ers Cry Foul, Hope for Replay

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers cried foul and hoped for a replay while looking over their shoulders at the Boston Celtics today in the National Basketball Association's tightening Eastern Division race.

Philadelphia coach Alex Hannum planned to file a formal protest with NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy in the wake of the 76ers' 113-112 loss to the Celtics Sunday at the Garden.

The Celtics laughed at Hannum's complaint after winning their fourth game in seven meetings with the 76ers and closing to within 5½ games, only four in the vital loss column, of Wilt Chamberlain & Co. Hannum announced he was playing the game under protest after referees Menly Rudolph and John Vanak didn't call a technical foul when Boston had six players on the floor with the Celtics in front 100-97 in the fourth period.

Vanak signaled Boston's Don Nelson into the game to replace Tom Sanders while Philadelphia had the ball to pass in from out of bounds. Play resumed amid confusion, and Sanders finally walked to his bench.

"They had six players out there for four to six seconds before Sanders sneaked off," Hannum said. "I yelled to the officials, but they didn't hear me. An injustice was done, and it should be rectified by the commissioner. I have high hopes the entire game will have to be replayed."

Rudolph and Vanak later said they did not see six Boston players on the court. Kennedy, who was among the packed crowd of 13,909, said only: "When I get the officials' report, I will make an evaluation."

The 76ers actually lost the meeting with the Celtics at the free throw line, cashing only 24 of 48 attempts. Chamberlain had 30 points, but made only eight of 22 free throw attempts.

While the Celtics were tightening up the East, the St. Louis Hawks continued a surge in the West that has brought them within 6½ games of crippled leader San Francisco.

The Hawks held off a desperate Cincinnati rally for a 118-115 victory in St. Louis as the Warriors were losing to the Pistons 134-127 in Detroit. The Hawks have won three straight, and the Warriors have lost four in a row.

Zelmo Beaty's 12 points and nine by Len Wilkens in the third period provided the Hawks with a 91-74 cushion entering the final quarter, but Oscar Robertson brought the Royals within 114-113 with 11 seconds left. However, two free throws each by Beaty and Wilkens ended the threat.

San Francisco, struggling without injured Nate Thurmond, made up a 21-point first-half deficit for a 91-90 lead as Rick Barry and Jeff Mullins combined for 31 points in the third period. But Detroit pulled away again in the final period.

Barry finished with 49 points, and Mullins hit a career high of 33. Dave DeBusschere paced the Pistons with 27 and reserve

Wayne Hightower added 24. Los Angeles overcame a 42-point burst by Don Kojis and whipped Chicago 129-121. The Lakers, led by Jerry West's 33 points and 26 by Elgin Baylor, pulled away from a halftime tie in Los Angeles and led through-out the final half.

Van Brocklin Quits as the Vikings Coach

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Stormy Norm Van Brocklin, the volatile Dutchman who built the Minnesota Vikings from a ragtag collection of kids and castoffs into a respectable National Football League team, has called it quits for good.

Van Brocklin, tormented for two years by his admitted inability to get the Vikings over the hump and unable to reconcile the widening split between himself and quarterback Fran Tarkenton, stunned the Vikings by resigning Saturday, a day after Tarkenton said he would not play with Minnesota any more.

The double-barrelled terminations left General Manager Jim Finks and the five Vikings owners dumbfounded, even though they obviously knew of the simmering rift between Van Brocklin and Tarkenton. And they knew the Van Brocklin temperament.

"This is a real blow," Finks said. "This is a very dark day for the Vikings... there's no reason to try to fool anybody."

Finks began today the task of finding a new head coach. He said the Vikings would start from scratch, and that it is certain no replacement would be named before the NFL meeting in Hawaii next week.

Van Brocklin made no recommendation to a successor.

It was Van Brocklin's second resignation from the Vikings, but this time it will stick. The Board of Directors immediately accepted it, after Van Brocklin had told them of his plans on Friday and then was told to think it over for 24 hours.

Van Brocklin indicated no future plans.

Tarkenton said he was shocked by Van Brocklin's resignation, but that it would in no way alter his decision not to return to the Vikings.

Winter Hangs Stubbornly to Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winter hung on stubbornly in the nation's northeastern quarter today as Chicago swept up a new layer of snow and the east shivered in subzero temperatures.

But it was bermuda shorts weather in most of the Southwest and vacationing exiles from snow-clogged northern cities worked on sun tans on the beaches of Florida and Southern California.

Two inches of new snow fell on Chicago and Milwaukee Sunday, adding to the frustrations of commuters. The snow belt ranged from Minnesota through Michigan and moved East.

To the east of the snow temperatures plunged — as low as — 27 at Massena in Upstate New York.

Temperatures slipped under the zero mark throughout Pennsylvania, all across New England and deep into the South. Montpelier, Vt. registered — 23 early today.

Temperatures ranging from 26 to 30 below zero combined with high winds Sunday to force the cancellation of a U.S. Eastern Ski Association meet at Saddleback Mountain near Rangeley, Maine.

Snow was expected to push into most of the zero belt later in the day.

Slightly warmer weather moved into the Dakotas and Minnesota bringing relief from a cold snap that shoved temperatures to — 42 at Hibbing, Minn., Sunday. Low readings in Wisconsin over the weekend ranged from the Weather Bureau's official — 36 reading to an unofficial — 46 mark. In Michigan the weekend low was a — 25 at Sault Ste. Marie.

Heavy rain was recorded in central Florida, the Pacific Northwest and in northern Texas. In Oregon fog and cool air moved in with the showers.

Traffic resumed Sunday at Los Angeles International Airport which was closed by fog Saturday night. Light fog persisted along parts of the Pacific Coast.

In New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Arizona, temperatures were in the high 60s and skies were bright, cheerful and sunny.

Legislative Fireworks Inevitable

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislature, beginning the second half of its 1967 regular session, returned to work today for a week that promises fireworks on several controversial measures.

A bill by Sen. Guy Jones of Conway to put about 7,000 state employees under civil service will be a special order of business in the House Tuesday.

The House deferred action on this Friday so that amendments to "refine" some portions of the bill could be made.

The House is scheduled Thursday to take action on a bill that would abolish capital punishment. The measure was introduced by Rep. Gladys Martin Oglesby and came out of committee with a "do pass" recommendation. However, some who voted "do pass" said they opposed the bill but thought it should be discussed on the House floor.

Also Thursday the House will meet as a committee of the whole to hear a legislative committee's report on an investigation of the state's prison system.

The Senate faced action today on the appointments by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Warren Theis of Pine Bluff to the board of Henderson State College and Jerry Thomasson of Arkadelphia to the Public Service Commission.

Also on today's agenda was Rockefeller's scheduled address on budgetary matters before a joint session.

Says Democrats Trying to Discredit WR

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt says the Democratic Party "wishes to do all it can to keep Gov. (Winthrop) Rockefeller's administration from being a success."

Britt, speaking at a Lincoln Day Dinner here Saturday night, said that if the governor's administration is successful it will "tend to build a party" and give Arkansas "a meaningful two-party system."

"Everything Gov. Rockefeller does will be under the closest scrutiny and we are going to have to perform well in order to prove to the people of Arkansas that there is merit in a two-party system," Britt said. Britt, a World War II hero, said he was able to find cover from enemy fire in the war but that in politics he hasn't "yet been able to get out of the line of fire."

He referred to several encounters he's had as presiding officer of the Arkansas Senate, composed entirely of Democrats.

Humphrey Gets Nod to Help Party

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has given the nod to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to help beef up the Democratic party organization for the 1968 presidential race.

Proceeding on the seemingly safe assumption that Johnson will be a candidate for a second elective term, Humphrey is devoting substantial time to conferences with party officials from all sections of the country.

One surprising development has brought to his office a number of Democrats from the South — including some governors or their representatives — who are avoiding public contacts with the President because of the deep anti-Johnson sentiment they think is prevalent in their states.

Humphrey's name used to be anathema in the South because of his liberalism and support of civil rights legislation. But some Southerners believe he is more practical and realistic about applying desegregation guidelines, for example, than are some officials of the executive departments.

Humphrey's role is wholly unofficial. Presidential aide M. Marvin Watson remains the chief White House contact with the Democratic National Committee and its chairman, John M. Bailey.

Bailey, recently given more maneuvering room by the President, has been chafing at the restraints Watson has put on him from time to time. This showed up in his reaction to a news conference question last week when he said he hadn't cleared with Watson two appointments he was announcing.

Humphrey is being careful to work closely with the White House and Bailey in his endeavors to get governors, state chairmen and others to rebuild the party machinery at state levels where it was buffeted by Republican victories in last November's election.

The vice president thus is being given a chance in his travels about the country and his reception of political visitors in Washington to build up the kind of contacts former Vice President Richard M. Nixon found so valuable in winning the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

There is one outstanding difference, however. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower found political maneuvering a bore and gave Nixon a free hand. Johnson isn't about to let anyone else encroach on his prerogatives in the political field.

Skin Cancer Drug Cure Achieved

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The goal of curing cancer with drugs is being achieved in skin cancers, researchers reported today. Various drugs are curing 60 to 98 per cent of some types of skin cancer, said Dr. Edmund Klein, dermatologist at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

"Healing occurs with slight or no recognizable scarring," as may occur from surgical or X-ray treatment, he added.

In cancer terms, "cure" means no return of the cancer for at least five years. This is being achieved, Klein told the New York State Medical Society in describing research with more than 300 patients begun more than five years ago.

The techniques are being used and studied at 22 other medical institutions with similar results, Klein said.

The drugs — half a dozen of them used far less effectively in treating other kinds of cancer — are applied directly to the skin in ointment or other forms.

The significance of the research extends beyond the abolition of skin cancer in many cases, Klein said.

It adds to the hopes that effective drugs may be found to overcome other, internal forms of cancer. A true chemical cure of cancer so far has generally been credited only in a very rare type of cancer of the uterus or womb — choriocarcinoma — with the drug methotrexate.

Further, one drug, nicknamed TEIB, apparently helps to mobilize body defenses to overcome skin cancers by inducing a hypersensitivity or allergic type of reaction. Perhaps similar or yet-unknown defense mechanisms might be induced to combat other types of cancer, Klein suggested.

Some of the drugs even help to detect early primary skin cancers. When drugs are applied to the skin, the unseen cancer spots become red and visible, and react to the drugs.

Klein reported best results, a cure rate of 95 to 98 per cent, in superficial basal and squamous-cell cancers, and in solar keratoses — dark, precancerous spots on the skin caused by exposure to sunlight. Basal-cell cancers arise from an underlayer of the skin, and squamous from the top layer.

Skin cancers are the most curable form of cancer, with 98 per cent cure rates through sur-

THE WELL CHILD

Overcome Child's Shyness
By Encouraging Mingling

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her son, 8, is very nervous. Although he does well in school it makes him jittery to get up in front of a group and take part in a program. This mother wants to know whether she should let him appear in any more church pageants.

This is a common failing in children who have not mingled much with other children. To overcome his excessive shyness this lad should join the Cub Scouts or some similar group. In some towns the YMCA has a program of activities including physical training and sports for youngsters.
In the summer it would be wise to send him to a camp.

He should also be encouraged to mix with other children more and to bring them to his home. He should by all means participate in church programs because only with constant practice will he get over his shyness.
It is especially important to praise him for his efforts no matter how halting they are.

Q—A close relative likes to take pictures of my grandchildren. She uses a 200-watt light for time exposures. Isn't this harmful to their eyes?
A—Looking at an intense light may cause retinitis and should be avoided. Try to

We are going to designate this week as "Catch the Queen Week."

We start with a simple hand. South is interested in getting to a grand slam after North, who has opened the bidding, gives an immediate spade raise. Some players might just blast to seven but this South is an expert playing in an all-expert game. His four no-trump bid asks for aces and his follow-up bid of five no-trump not only asks for kings but also tells North that he, South, is interested in seven and is guaranteeing that the North-South hands hold all the aces.

If North had held the queen of spades, plus his three kings and ace, he should go to seven over five no-trump. Even then, South gave his partner an extra push by bidding six no-trump but North was happy to let the hand play at six.

When South looks over dummy, he is really pleased to have stopped at the small slam. He misses four spades, including the queen, and has to pick up that queen for the grand slam. On the other hand, six is perfectly safe and all he has to think about is an overtrick.

He wins the club and leads the jack of spades. No expert would cover in this situation. Nevertheless, South has made the correct play because some players automatically cover an honor with an honor. Anyway, West plays low and dummy's king wins the trick. South leads a second spade and East follows low. South's correct play is to rise with the ace. When you hold nine of a suit, missing the queen, your normal correct play is to try for the drop, not a finesse. True, the odds favor a 3-1 as against a 2-2 break but, since you finesse on the second round, you have eliminated the 3-1 breaks that include a singleton queen.

♠ J 8 7 5 4 ♥ 10 6 3 ♦ K 2 ♣ K 8 7

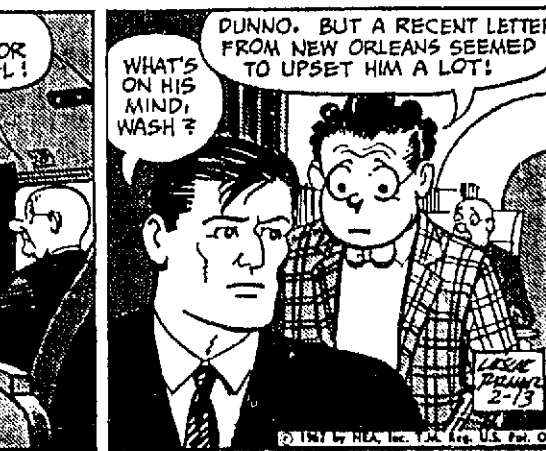

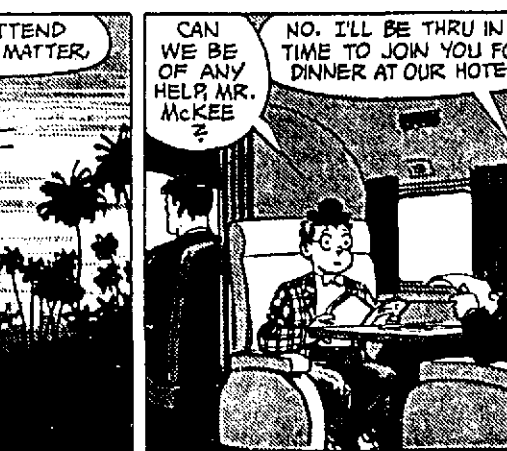

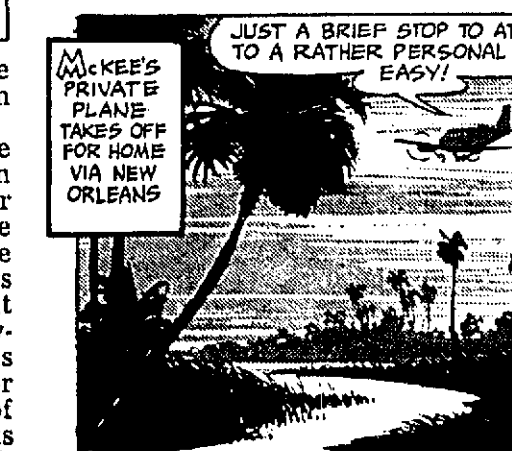

What do you do?

A—If your partner doesn't go crazy when he holds a two bid, raise him to three hearts. Otherwise bid two no-trump but don't, repeat, don't bid two spades.

DAKTIA, Vietnam—(NEA)—Some critics of U.S. foreign aid lament the fact that the money is often given without hope of profit.

True enough, it is. While other world powers administer aid to the underprivileged only in lieu of concessions, the United States stubbornly continues to help people who are woefully incapable of ever repaying the favors.

The lepers of Daktia, for example. Rotting, ignorant, disfigured social outcasts, the inmates of this central highlands leprosy have no military or political significance and have neither a past nor future in the modern world.

Yet the United States helps feed, clothe, shelter and protect them. Why? No one can communicate why. The words mean nothing. One has to see this place and these people before he truly knows why.

There is a mother here who can never close her eyes. Her lids have decomposed. Tears well continually because she is unable to blink.

There is a man here whose legs have been eaten away to the thighs. He gets around by sliding. He has constructed a violin from bamboo . . . and her village because she looks like a human skeleton.

They are a pitifully innocent lot. And a whole man cannot look on them without revulsion and compassion, at one and the same time.

The Daktia leprosy is administered by a French nun, aided by the Swiss Red Cross, helped financially by the Vietnamese government (30 cents per day per leper), but there is little doubt who the major benefactor is.

"What," says a staffer, "would we do without America?"

What, indeed? The kitchen is stocked full with bags and barrels from the United States—flour, condensed milk, coffee, salt—all stamped in red, white and blue greetings.

When they're cold, the 400 lepers rummage through sacks of sweaters which are unmistakable in origin.

When they're sick, they receive bandages and medicals from supply lots which arrive regularly from the States.

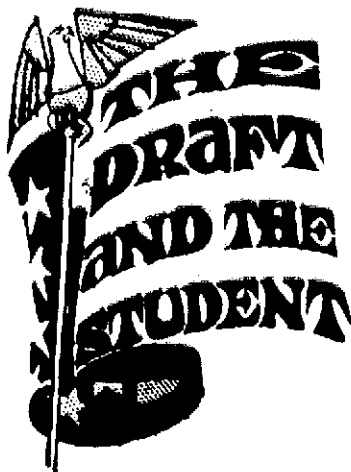

They must be housed, schooled and motivated. And the invariable assistance for each comes, in part, from the country most local inhabitants can't pick out on a map.

It is, of course, impossible to estimate how much American money is donated to the Leprosarium of Daktia. Considerable amounts, certain-won't live normally again. They'll never be more to the American people than unfortunate wards.

They can't, in sum, ever repay the debt.

But it doesn't matter. Not when you've seen them, it doesn't.

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—"Let's face it," today's college student tells you, "the Selective Service System is not only arbitrary, it's whimsical, corrupt and unjust." And, the public in general, from congressional leaders to truck drivers, backs up the statement with a solid, "Amen."

What's wrong with the system? Harris Wofford, associate director of the Peace Corps, catalogues the injustices this way:

"The Selective Service System encourages avoidance of service and discourages real volunteer service. It turns college and graduate schools into a refuge and corrupts American higher education."

Wofford has only to look as far as his own organization to find examples of the "gross inequities in selection" he feels so strongly about. More than 40 Peace Corps volunteers have recently gone overseas with their appeals of 1-A classifications still pending. Two International Voluntary Service men were drafted while serving in rural community development work in Vietnam while many of the nation's leaders are critical of the fact that we're not doing more of this type of work in the war-torn country.

Critics of the present system point to the fact that 20-year-old guidelines are used to decide who shall be deferred for reasons of national interest; that using class ranking to judge a student's value has forced many to pay more attention to grades than to learning; that the system turns upside down the more sensible policy of calling younger men first; that the system perpetuates the fear of the consequences of dissent by speeding up the induction of young men who violate the unclear powers of the system, and that the underprivileged feel the injustice of the system the most because of lower educational opportunity.

But any reform of the present system hinges on whether a substitute plan can be found to satisfy the requirements of national security. President Johnson says he hopes to see the day "when some form of voluntary service to the community and nation . . . is as common in America as going to school."

But would the idea of a volunteer army work? A surprising number of people say "yes."

America now maintains an army of 3 million men and a high turnover requires 700,000 replacements annually. Just over 300,000 are drafted and about 40 per cent of the enlistees admit to volunteering in part to avoid the draft. Would the armed forces be short 400,000 men a year under the policy of voluntary enlistments? No, say the experts, if nondraft related enlistments, the use of civilians in support positions and an intensified recruitment policy pay the benefits that are expected.

Current enlistments not related to the draft will not drop and will probably increase without any change in military recruitment policy. A motivation study by Macoon Inc. shows that personal factors account for at least 60 per cent of the current enlistments.

Population increases assure at least some increase in enlistments. Between 1955 and 1965, the number of available men jumped 50 per cent. It will jump another 18 per cent by 1970. A minimum of 200,000 enlistees without any form of conscription is assured without one change in military recruitment policy or job placement.

There are 10 "support" positions for every line combat position. Recent Department of Defense policy indicates that many soldiers in support positions are being replaced by civilians. The pos-

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service, maintains that the ultimate argument for the present draft is that it is the only system which can achieve a quick build-up of military power, such as was demanded in Korea and in Vietnam.

Ouster of Sukarno Inevitable

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia's Parliament was reported today to have called on Congress to oust President Sukarno and investigate his connections with the Communists. Political observers expect Congress to accede to the request. The more than 300 members of Parliament make up half the Congress, the nation's highest legislative body. Members said Parliament will present its resolution Saturday to Congress, which is to meet early next month. The resolution also asks Congress to name an acting president. In a further blow to Sukarno's waning support, parliamentary members from the pro-Sukarno Nationalist party were said to have voted for the resolution after initial resistance. Sukarno remained secluded in his Jakarta palace. The military leaders who blocked the attempted Communist coup in October 1965, and took over the government the following February have urged the president to resign before Congress meets to reduce the possibility of violent reaction from his supporters. But Sukarno has given no public inkling of his plans. One government minister said that if Sukarno had decided two weeks ago to leave the country, "he might have gotten away with it. But now it is questionable whether the generals will let him go." In East Java, Sukarno's birthplace where affection for him remains strong among millions of peasants, the Moslem Nahdlatul Ulama party demanded that Sukarno be dismissed.

Pix Wednesday;
'Battle of Bulge'

Hope Star will attempt its second full-color printing this Wednesday, Feb. 15. We use the word "attempt" advisedly, because the fact that we brought off the first one successfully—"Hog-Killing Time in Arkansas", Jan. 28—doesn't mean a thing.

Trying to produce a four-color job—at least in the early stages—is like guessing where the next bolt of lightning will strike. Shop Supt. Billy Dan Jones and his staff will link up the big press for black, blue, red, and yellow—and if disaster breathes down their collective necks they'll simply abandon ship! Cut loose from everything except the black, drop out the Ektachrome picture and go to press with a conventional edition.

Our first full-color run Jan. 28 was on a Saturday, when we had plenty of time to experiment, since Saturday's paper goes to press between 9:30 and 10 in the morning. But there's no margin for error on a weekday, when press-time is around 2:30 p.m. We've got time for one or two "passes"—and if they don't work, the color picture will go over until another day so we can get Wednesday's edition out to the subscribers.

The Ektachrome scheduled for Wednesday shows four local youngsters at a flowering crab-apple tree in Ray Turner's back yard, a shot this writer made April 1, 1966. It's a timely picture—as another Spring is just around the corner for Southwest Arkansas.

Subscribers wishing extra copies of Wednesday's edition should place their orders before Wednesday noon as the press-run is limited.

Sunday night your editor saw "Battle of the Bulge" which is showing at the Saenger theater through tonight—Monday. There is but one night performance, at 7:30—and it's one of the great war pictures of our time.

You know the story, for you read it in war correspondents' dispatches on this page in December 1944. The Allies had a feeling that World War II in Europe had been won and the Nazi armies were about to collapse.

But one American officer questioned this complacency and remained suspicious and alert, Lt. Col. Kiley, played by Henry Fonda. He was ridiculed by Col. Pritchard (Dana Andrews), and got no backing from Brig. Gen. Grey (Robert Ryan)—nevertheless Kiley went up front to scout the enemy.

What he found out was plenty. The Germans were marshalling their entire force of giant Tiger tanks under their great tank expert, Col. Hessler, magnificently played by Robert Shaw, for a last desperate strike through the fog-shrouded Ardennes Forest to cut the Allies forces in two.

The Germans came on with the speed of lightning, the Americans were burned out of the town of Amblevie, disorganized and desperately close to panic—and suddenly the outcome of World War II was in doubt.

But Gen. Grey rallied the Americans in the snow outside the burned town, blocked off the Germans from the fuel dump they had to have—and suddenly the Tiger tanks were immobilized and their crews headed back to Germany... on foot.

It's a great show—with hundreds of tanks, thousands of GIs, and a cast of stars. Besides Fonda, Andrews, Ryan, and Shaw, there are Pier Angeli, Barbara Werle (the only two girls in the show), and George Montgomery and Ty Hardin.

Appointments Lashed as Political

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Jerry K. Thomasson, an outspoken critic of some Democrats during last year's election campaigning, said it softly Sunday night but there was little doubt about how he felt.

"Had it been a Democratic governor, I don't believe they would have done it," he said.

Thus, he assessed his views of the Arkansas Senate's action Friday in adopting a resolution naming former state Rep. Glenn F. Walther of Little Rock to the state Public Service Commission.

The matter, however, was not scheduled to be resolved until today when the Senate met to take action on Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's appointment to the post—Jerry K. Thomasson.

Thomasson said he was aware the governor would appoint him to the commission, one on which he was anxious to serve.

"I have always been of the opinion that the utility rates in this state were too high and if you're familiar with my campaign last summer, I stated that if elected I would investigate our utility rates," Thomasson said.

Thomasson's rift with the Democrats began well before last year's campaigning, but it was the campaign that ignited the fire, causing many Democrats to refer to him as "Rockefeller's hatchman."

Thomasson, a handsome 35-year-old lawyer, was unsuccessful in his bid for attorney general on the GOP ticket.

During the campaign he lashed out at what he called "political roads and bridges," some of Jim Johnson's campaign workers, the administration of former Gov. Orval Faubus, plus Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., a utility regulated by the PSC.

Thomasson was twice elected to the Arkansas House as a Democrat (1962 and 1964), and changed parties early last spring because he felt that "the so-called Democratic Party was controlled by a bunch of 18th century royalists who have held the state back economically."

It was believed that a 100 per cent Democratic Senate would be reluctant to approve his appointment to the commission.

Thomasson, born, reared and educated here, says he has no political plans at this time.

"I will continue to work in the GOP and am looking forward to electing a president two years from now," he said.

Thomasson, who returned to his law practice following his general election defeat, attended Henderson State College for three years and received his law degree from the University of Arkansas in 1959.

He spent two years as a referee for the Workmen's Compensation Commission before

Resumption of Air War Likely Unless Cong Quits Buildup

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP)—Prompt resumption of the U.S. air war against North Vietnam was foreseen by officials here today unless the North Vietnamese start reducing military operations or otherwise move toward peace.

President Johnson has development in the situation under almost constant review, informants added—presumably including a surprise meeting early today between British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin in London.

An order to return to the attack could go out at any time, it was indicated, if there were no move toward peace talks.

U.S. officials said an unexpected weekend extension of the lunar new year pause in bombing of the North does not indicate any change in basic U.S. policy. They ruled out a long suspension unless Hanoi takes reciprocal action.

Johnson himself made the decision for the extended bombing pause following the four-day holiday truce throughout Vietnam. The President reportedly acted at the last minute on Saturday when the 96-hour cease-fire was coming to an end.

According to authoritative information, Johnson acted after an exchange of messages—presumably including telephone calls—with Wilson.

Wilson and Kosygin concluded their scheduled conferences Sunday. But they met early today for an additional 65 minutes at Kosygin's hotel hours before his scheduled return to Moscow.

Newsweek magazine said the State Department is studying an unidentified Eastern European diplomat's report that Red China's Mao Tse-tung has given North Vietnam approval to negotiate with the United States on condition that the talks be direct, and not through the offices of the Soviet Union.

In a related story, the magazine said Johnson insisted that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., issue a denial that the senator had received a peace feeler while on a visit to Paris. It was Newsweek, in its last issue, that said Kennedy had received the peace feeler through a French diplomat.

This is the third pause in the air war against North Vietnam that started in February 1965. The first bombing suspension was undertaken in May 1965 and ran for five days. Johnson ordered the second at the end of a Christmas-New Year's truce in December 1965. That pause

Man Shot, Killed at Patmos

Charles Lex Jones of Patmos is in Hempstead County jail today pending a hearing before Judge Arnold Tuesday in connection with the fatal shooting late Saturday of Muri H. Whitworth, 43, also of Patmos.

Deputy Sheriff Herbert Griffin said Jones shot Whitworth with a shotgun at the Jones home. He was killed instantly, the officer said, indicating that the investigation isn't complete. The Deputy said Whitworth did not have a weapon.

The officers said Whitworth, formerly of Clarksdale, Miss., had lived in the Patmos area for about two years. Mr. Griffin said his investigation continues and gave no clue as to what brought about the shooting.

The Deputy said Jones, following the shooting, went to a neighbors house and called the Sheriff's office.

Whitworth's body was taken to Clarksdale, Miss., Herndon Funeral Home reported.

Russia Charges Red China Is Trying to Prevent Vietnam Peace

By EUGENE LEVIN
TOKYO (AP) — Moscow Radio said Sunday Red China is apparently trying to wreck relations with the Soviet Union in an effort to prevent peace in Vietnam. But Foreign Minister Chen Yi reportedly asserted that China would not take the initiative in breaking diplomatic ties with its Communist neighbor.

Moscow and Peking traded accusations as a series of military moves related to Chairman Mao Tse-tung's purge was reported in China over the weekend. Troops facing the Soviet Union and the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa were put on the alert, the army took control of Peking and two of Mao's foes were ousted from the Communist party's military commission.

Anti-Soviet rallies drew 100,000 persons in Peking Saturday and 300,000 more in a number of other cities, the New China News Agency reported. It said effigies of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev were burned at one rally in Taiyuan.

Moscow Radio repeated a Soviet charge that the daily demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking were slowing Soviet military and economic aid to North Vietnam because employees could not leave the embassy to expedite the shipments passing through China.

"The main purpose of the demonstrations apparently is to break off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union," the broadcast said.

It said China wanted to cut off the Soviet aid because "the Peking leaders consider the establishment of peace in Vietnam is dangerous and against Mao Tse-tung's plan. If all assistance reached Vietnam smoothly, the U.S. aggressors would undoubtedly be repulsed more smoothly."

Cong Raid Kills 12 Vietnamese

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)

— Viet Cong gunners made a daring mortar attack on the nerve center of the U.S. military command in downtown Saigon today. The headquarters wasn't hit, 12 Vietnamese were killed and 40 were wounded, and an explosion blew up the house from which the attack came.

Allied ground operations resumed Sunday a few minutes after the end of the four-day lunar new year truce proclaimed by the South Vietnamese government. But U.S. planes today apparently spared targets in North Vietnam for the sixth straight day as Washington appeared to be giving the Hanoi regime more time to cool down the fighting.

Only light, scattered ground action was reported in South Vietnam. U.S. and South Vietnamese air attacks also resumed in the South.

The headquarters of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, was the target of the mortar attack in Saigon, but the closest round fell in a street about 75 yards from the compound and no Americans were hurt.

That round hit a truck in a Vietnamese army convoy, exploding ammunition in the vehicle, and nine soldiers were killed and nine were wounded. Earlier reports said 14 soldiers were killed, but this figure was lowered later.

When Vietnamese police closed in on the house where the Viet Cong had set up their mortar, the guerrillas were believed to have triggered a timing device that set off other mortar rounds. The explosion killed two policemen and a 9-year-old child and wounded 31 other policemen and civilians, Vietnamese authorities reported. Again there were no American casualties.

One 81mm mortar round landed in the front garden of a British Embassy official living about 500 yards from where the truck was hit. The explosion smashed windows and sent shrapnel flying through the living room, but no one was hurt.

A third shell landed on the roof of a chemical company, and a spokesman said a fourth round might have burst when it hit the trees above the 25-vehicle army convoy.

U. S. Authorities said it was believed the terrorists had escaped although at least one apparently was wounded. A great deal of confusion surrounded the incident, and the possibility was not ruled out that the mortar had accidentally blown up as the Viet Cong fired at the command center.

The attack on Westmoreland's block-wide, fenced-in headquarters between two busy streets had been carefully prepared. The Viet Cong had moved into a two-story house about eight blocks away and removed several sheets of tin roofing to make the firing hole for their s a w e d-off, American-made 81mm mortar. Sighting lines to the U.S. compound were scribbled on the walls.

The wounded included 15 children.

Cattlemen to Meet Tuesday

The Hempstead County Cattlemen's Association will meet at the Diamond Cafe on Tuesday night, February 14, at 7:30, according to Burgess Garrett, president. Members are asked to remember this is a change from their regular meeting date.

Mr. Cecil Bittle, assistant Director in Charge of the Southwest Branch Experiment Station, will be the speaker. The station has completed four years of research on the beef cow and calf project. The results of this test will be presented by Mr. Bittle.

A large and active membership can help boost beef cattle production in this county, said Mr. Garrett. There will be a check-up at this meeting to see how many members are enrolled for 1967.

The public is invited to attend.
